Spring Conditions Challenge Forages

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

A cool, wet spring delayed growth of several summer grasses, but not the weeds that compete for space in fields and pastures across Mississippi.

Rocky Lemus, forage specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said the state has about 903,000 acres of bahiagrass and 770,000 acres of bermudagrass.

"The conditions this spring have delayed bermudagrass and bahiagrass in some parts of the state, but in south Mississippi, some producers have started to fertilize their pastures," he said. "Bermudagrass is about a week behind in north Mississippi."

Lemus said about 750,000 acres will be devoted to hay production this year.

"Some producers are still using annual ryegrass for grazing while it is at its peak, and others have started cutting ryegrass for hay," he said.

Rains have made it difficult for producers to spray pastures and hay fields for weeds, especially winter annual weeds. Buttercup and henbit have increased significantly this spring.

Lemus said pasture improvements or renovations need to be considered throughout the calendar year to improve nutrition and reduce weeds.

"Producers need to plan renovations of pastures or hay fields in advance," he said. "Improvements can be as simple as testing the soil and applying the recommended fertilizer, or as involved as destroying the existing plants and planting a better forage species."

Important factors for warm-season pastures include soil testing and fertility, seed quality, seeding rates, ground preparation, planting methods, weed control, evaluation and management of newly seeded pastures.

Lemus said hay and other stored forages play an important role in winter feeding programs. Testing hay quality gives producers insights into any changes that need to be made.

"Forage testing provides accurate information about hay's nutritive value and reveals how producers should adjust protein and energy supplements to meet the animals' requirements," he said.

Lemus encouraged growers to submit forage samples for analysis at the Mississippi State Chemical Laboratory, which is certified by the National Forage Testing Association.

Scott Boone, director of environmental and chemical regulatory with the state laboratory at MSU, said the program has decreased test costs and reporting times for producers.

"With the investment in new technology, we are able to provide forage testing for $15. We email results to the customer within three days and provide more information about their product than was previously offered," Boone said. "We report dry matter, crude protein, acid and neutral detergent fiber, fat, total digestible nutrient, relative forage quality, and several minerals, including calcium, phosphorus, potassium and magnesium."

Boone said former test methods would require two to three weeks to perform and cost $50 for dry matter, protein, and acid and neutral detergent fiber.

"We are always looking for improvements to increase our capability and decrease our prices to help the customers," he said.

The Mississippi State Chemical Laboratory has an "A" rating from the National Forage Testing Association.

Alfalfa Hay Production Field Day Set for May 19

By Robert Nathan Gregory
MSU Agricultural Communications

Landowners and producers who want to learn more about alfalfa production can attend a workshop in Newton.

The Mississippi State University Coastal Plain Branch Experiment Station will host an alfalfa hay production and equipment demonstration May 19.

The workshop, which begins at 9 a.m. and runs until 3:30 p.m., is divided into morning and afternoon sessions. The morning session will involve presentations on alfalfa establishment, fertility management, harvest methods, pest control and economic analyses. The afternoon session will offer a cutting, baling and wrapping demonstration featuring several manufacturers and local equipment dealers. A lunch will be provided.

To preregister for the free event, contact Jenna Mosely at jlt205@msstate.edu or 601-683-2084.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Goodness from Grains

*****

Wild Rice and Beef Casserole

3 cups chicken broth
3/4 cup uncooked wild rice
1 1/4 cups uncooked brown rice
2 bay leaves
1/2 cup butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 pound ground beef
2 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained
1 4-ounce can water chestnuts, drained & chopped
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese

In a medium pot, bring the chicken broth to a boil, and mix in the wild rice, brown rice and bay leaves. Reduce heat to low, cover, and simmer 45 minutes, until most of the broth has been absorbed. In a skillet, melt the butter and sauté onion until tender. Stir in the ground beef, and cook until evenly brown. Mix in the mushrooms, water chestnuts, soy sauce and curry powder, and continue to cook and stir until heated through. Preheat oven to 350°F. Mix the beef mixture into the rice mixture, and remove the bay leaves. Transfer to a 9x13-inch baking dish. Top with Cheddar cheese. Bake 20 minutes in the preheated oven, until bubbly and lightly browned.

Sweet Cornbread Cake

1 cup cornmeal
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/3 cups white sugar
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup vegetable oil
1/3 cup melted butter
2 tablespoons honey
4 eggs, beaten
2 1/2 cups whole milk

Preheat oven to 350°F and grease a 9x13-inch baking dish. Stir together the cornmeal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a mixing bowl. Pour in the vegetable oil, melted butter, honey, beaten eggs and milk, and stir just to moisten. Pour the batter into the prepared baking dish and bake in the preheated oven for 45 minutes, until the top of the cornbread starts to brown and show cracks.

Slow Cooker Oats

1 cup steel cut oats
3 1/2 cups water
1 cup peeled & chopped apple
1/2 cup raisins
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Place the steel cut oats, water, apple, raisins, butter, cinnamon, brown sugar and vanilla extract into a slow cooker, and stir to combine and dissolve the sugar. Cover the cooker, set to low, and allow to cook six to seven hours (for firm oats) or eight hours (for softer texture).

Banana Quinoa "Rice" Pudding

3/4 cup quinoa
1 1/2 cups water
2 ripe bananas
1 cup whole milk
1 cup coconut milk
4 tablespoons honey, divided
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, divided
1/4 teaspoon salt

Rinse quinoa in a paper towel-lined colander until water is no longer milky. Transfer quinoa to a saucepan, add 1 1/2 cups water and soak for 30 minutes. Bring quinoa and water to a boil, reduce heat to low, cover, and simmer until water is absorbed, about 15 minutes. Blend bananas, whole milk, coconut milk, three tablespoons honey, butter, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and salt together in a blender until smooth. Stir milk mixture into quinoa, raise heat to medium; cook and stir constantly until pudding becomes thick, about 10 minutes. Transfer pudding to serving dish and refrigerate until cold, about one hour. Drizzle one tablespoons honey over pudding; sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Barley, Shrimp, and Corn Salad

1 cup barley
2 1/2 cups water
1 pound cooked bay shrimp
2 cups frozen corn, thawed
1/2 cup diced green bell pepper
1/2 cup diced red bell pepper
4 green onions, chopped
1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
1 teaspoon minced lemon zest
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1/4 cup olive oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Combine barley and water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer for approximately 35 minutes. Transfer barley to a large bowl, and toss with shrimp, corn, bell peppers, green onions, thyme and lemon zest. In a small bowl, whisk together lemon juice and oil; season with salt and pepper. Pour dressing over barley salad, and toss to combine.

DOGS

Only HERDING & HUNTING dog breeds will be published.

All dogs must be purebred. Mix breed dogs will not be allowed to advertise. Each subscriber is allowed to advertise only two dog breeds.

We cannot accept ads from any individual who is engaged in any type of puppy mill operation or acts as a dealer, broker, buncher, or agent in the business of buying and selling dogs and/or bred solely for profit rather than protection of breed integrity (as defined by the United States Department of Agriculture).

We do not list ads for any type of dogs at stud service. Only in-state residents are allowed to advertise within this category.

The Herding & Hunting dog breeds list utilized by the Mississippi Market Bulletin is endorsed by the Mississippi State Veterinarian and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

It is the sole discretion of the Mississippi Market Bulletin to accept or reject any dog ad for submission.

This timber report contains aggregated individual timber sale stumpage data. Many variables, such as raw material demand, mill inventories, buyer competition, quality, topography and weather, play key roles in determining local prices. Pine Sawtimber prices are based upon a 14-inch Diameter-at-Breast-Height (DBH) log size. Pine Chip N Saw prices are based upon a 10-inch DBH log size. The stumpage prices shown here are reprinted with permission from the Timber Owner Market Guide; a bi-monthly publication of Forest2Market (www.forest2market.com).

Legacy of a Farm Table

By Theresa Love
Deputy Director
Mississippi Agriculture
& Forestry Museum

When I go to visit family in Richland, I try to imagine what it used to look like when my mother and her sisters were growing up there. It has changed so much since my childhood here in the 1960s and 1970s. I drive down Highway 49 visualizing the rural town of Plain, Mississippi, a community of share croppers and farmers. The past helps us know where we come from so we can appreciate who we are.

I want my children and grandchildren to understand how hard their family worked and loved to make their future possible. I tell them of a time when collecting eggs, feeding livestock, milking cows and helping bring in the crops were the equivalent of going to the grocery store, a time without air conditioning or indoor plumbing. Entertainment was swinging from sapling trees, catching critters in the creek, and listening to a late night radio show by oil lamp light. A cup of coffee was more than a tall mocha non-fat caramel latte; it was a morning cup of energy needed to bring in a crop and an afternoon reward for a day of heavy lifting and callous-forming work. I tell them of a family that worked together to put food on their table.

You've heard the term, "it takes a village to raise a child." However, there is a difference between raising and rearing. The village that reared me consisted of my parents, grandparents and aunts. Some of my fondest memories are the times spent with them, sitting under the trees on our family property at the end of a long day shelling purple hull peas and trying to figure out later why I had purple fingers. My Granddaddy had what we call free-range chickens and turkeys. I remember a big ole Tom turkey Granddaddy decided I could ride. He was like that, always looking for a laugh. My Aunt Bobbie told me of a time when she and my Granddaddy (her Daddy) went to the barn so she could watch him milk the cows. He decided to let her try, at which time the cow promptly kicked over the milk bucket and milk went everywhere. Of course, he laughed – the difference between raising and rearing is patience. We were interwoven in our parents' hard work and were expected to participate but not necessarily do

The Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead is significant because it is a fully intact Mississippi farm representing a typical farm from 1860 to 1960. All of the original buildings, with the exception of the chicken house, were preserved intact and restored to their 1920s appearance when it was relocated to the Ag Museum from its original location in Jefferson Davis County in 1981.

it correctly. My mother Ruby always talks about how hard her mother worked to keep their dirt floors clean. "They were dirt, but they were the cleanest dirt floors you have ever seen." My Aunt Jo talks about shelling peas until her fingers would bleed. She says, "It would have been worth it if Ruby and Bobbie would not have eaten them all."

Working for the Agriculture and Forestry Museum, I often spend time going through the archived collection, seeking to create educational programs and demonstrations, often finding my Aunt Bobbie Long's name among the materials. She worked very hard for many years at the Museum to share with those who visited the importance of agriculture because it was so embedded in her life. She is a fan to the flame in my heart to continue this education today.

I picture a farm family at the end of a long day sitting at the dinner table. They look at each other and smile because they know they worked hard for everything in front of them. I tell my children and grandchildren that is what it means to be a farm family. The meaning has not changed. It's about working together to bring families to tables.

The next time you drive down Highway 49, drive through a farm community or visit the Agriculture and Forestry Museum, take a moment and remember the farm families of yesterday and today. Think of the families who put food on your family's table – families like mine.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information.

Bobbie Long at the Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead in 1984 demonstrating daily chores such as boiling clothes in a washpot over a fire, drawing water from the well, gathering eggs, putting up vegetables, and sweeping dirt from the house through cracks in the floors.

As society moves further away from the farm, today's demonstrations require more of an educational component. For instance, Theresa Love, pictured above at the Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead, now uses enriched techniques and demonstrations to teach visitors and school groups.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.

MSU Class Visits MS Ag Museum

The Commissioner of Agriculture of Commerce, Cindy Hyde-Smith, is pictured with Dr. Laura Lemons' Contemporary Issues in Agriculture & Life Sciences class after a recent visit to the Mississippi Agriculture & Forestry Museum. The Mississippi State University students visited with the Commissioner as she spoke on the importance of agriculture in our state as well as the importance of international trade to agriculture. After touring the Capitol and hearing from Farm Bureau, the class departed for a tour of the Port of Gulfport.

New Farmers Market Grant Program

By Chaille Clements Munn
Communications and
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith announced the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce will be taking applications for the new Certified Farmers Market Specialty Crop Grant. The goal of this grant program is to increase awareness and availability of Mississippi-grown specialty crops sold at Certified Farmers Markets.

A "Certified Farmers Market" means a place, structure or building that is used by two or more Mississippi growers on a frequent basis for the direct sale of their on-farm produce and/or food products to consumers. At least 50% of the agricultural products offered for sale must be produced by the grower or under the grower's direction within the State of Mississippi. The market must be operated by a grower's association; a certified, non-profit organization; or a government entity (state, county, municipal, tribal, etc.). To learn more about the Mississippi Certified Farmers Market program, visit www.mdac.ms.gov.

Through the Certified Farmers Market Specialty Crop Grant, Certified Farmers Markets can apply for up to $1,000 to promote specialty crops sold at their respective farmers market. Grant funds may only be used for specialty crop promotion. Specialty crops are defined by law as "fruits and vegetables, tree nuts, dried fruits, and horticulture and nursery crops, including floriculture."

This program is on a first come, first serve basis. Only one grant can be awarded per market.

Beef and Forage Field Day Set for May 21

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Agricultural Communications

Cattle producers in Louisiana and Mississippi can learn about animal handling and health issues during the Mississippi/Louisiana Beef and Forage Field Day May 21.

The event begins with registration at 8:45 a.m. at the Livestock Producers Sale Barn on Highway 98 East in Tylertown, Mississippi.

Experts with the Mississippi State University Extension Service and Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station will join industry professionals to discuss low-stress animal handling and new vaccination regulations.

Participants can also view the top-performing bulls from the South Mississippi Gain on Forage Bull Test. These bulls are for sale and can be purchased before, during or after the field day.

To preregister or for more information, contact Walthall County Extension agent Richard Hay at 601-876-4021 or c.r.hay@msstate.edu; or Lincoln County Extension agent Mark Mowdy at 601-835-3460 or m.mowdy@msstate.edu.
